Hidden $100,000 Was To

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3.—Investigation by Congress of the escape of Green Cleveland Bergdoll from the Fort Jay disciplinary barracks and earges that American officials were rapided by him was promised in the Heuse to-day by Representative Julius Kahn, of California, chairman of the Committee on Military Affairs.

Discussion of Bergdoll was renewed in the House when Mr. Kahn announced during debate on the army appropriation bill that he had been instructed by his committee to gather all facts with a view to fixing responsibility. His itstement was made in reply to a quastion from Representative Royal C. Jehnson, of South Dakota, who asked if the committee contemplated any action.

fahnson, of South Dakota, who asked if the committee contemplated any action. A resolution calling for the appoint-ment of a special committee to inves-tigate the escape of Bergdoll was in-troduced in the last session of Con-gress, but when an attempt was made to call it up on the last day of the session, Representative Thomas L. Blanton, of Texas, objected. $100,000 Bribe Hinted

"There was a very important matter coatsined in the cable that Bergdoll sent to The Philadelphia Ledger," said views on Prospect for Reservices on the intimated very strongly that he was going to bribe some American officials by paying $100,000.

"I think a most thorough and sweeping investigation of that matter should he had at this time. The Committee on Military Affairs instructed its chairman this morning to get into communication with the United States Attorney in Philadelphia, with the view of having all papers sent here immediately so that the committee could be informed of the facts and could proceed further in regard to the entire matter."

Views on Prospect for Recovery; Reyburn Speaks

Samuel Reyburn, president of Lord & Taylor and of the Associated Dry Goods Company, last night facetiously childed the shoe and leather trade for some of its shortcomings at the first dinner of the Allied Shoe and Leather Industries of Greater New York at the Hotel Astor. The dinner brought together hide dealers, tanners, leather dealers, shoe manufacturers, whole-

Information made public by Mr. Mc-troy revealed that the deserter's munsel had an agreement whereby the $100,000 Bergdoll was supposed to have hidden away in the Maryland hills was to be divided between his lawyers in case the prisoner's freedom was ob-tained. McAvoy declared that after Mrs. Emma C. Bergdoll, the draft dodger's mother, had refused to pay any money to the attorneys, Bergdoll informed them that he had $100,000 hidden in the hills near Hagerstown, Md. and that they then obtained his release to search for it.

Terms of Contracts

Ir. McAvoy declared that two con-cts were submitted to Bergdoll by lawyers, but added that he signed mather. These contracts, according to the District Attorney, were presented to the Federal grand jury in the investigation which led to the indictment of Mrs. Bergdoll on charges growing out of the case against Erwin Bergdoll, a brother of Grover.

Mara Morland, who shared the apartment with her, found her when she returned from a party early in the day Miss Carlysle was on the floor of the kitchen, and gas was flowing from a burner of the stove. She was subject to heart attacks, which sometimes rendered her unconscious, and it is believed that she fell, stricken with one of them, and seized the gas cock in an automatic attempt to break her fall.

Miss Morland said that her friend was divorced from Mr. Tilford about two months ago.

Britain to Drop War Tax

BIRMINGHAM, England, Feb. 3.—J.
nstin Chamberlain, Chancellor of the Austin Chamberlain, Chancellor of the Exchequer, in a speech here to-day announced that the excess profits tax in Great Britain would be withdrawn. Not cally would this tax be abolished, he added, but no new tax would be proposed to replace it and no new taxes would be proposed for the coming financial year.

There might be new duties in connection with "dumped" goods or depreciated exchange, but there would be no new taxes on business, the Chancellor declared.

Mr. Chamberlain, who was speaking to his constituents, denied that the government had any intention to promote and rush an election on a popular budget.

"There must be tremendous efforts on the part of all classes concerned to reduce prices as quickly as possible to a reasonable level. At the present time prices of finished leather are far too high when we consider the cost of raw materials. Until prices decline we can except only a small business in any lines where the price readjustment is delayed."

Expenses

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3.—It would seem wise to collect now the $234,000,000 balance owed by Germany to the United States for the expenses of the American Army of Occupation, "in view of the obligations to other nations Germany is now expected to assume." Representative Slemp, Republican, Virginia, a member of the House Appropriations Committee, said to-day in a letter to Secretary Houston.

Mr. Siemp also wrote that he wondered if American could collect for more than 7,500 troops, "the number, according to General Pershing's testimony, it was agreed by President Wilson we should keep in Germany."

The American forces on the Rhine are said at present to number more than 12,000 men.

The House committee was informed freently by War Department officials that the cost of these forces to December 31 was more than $270,000,000, of which Germany had paid a little over $35,000,000.

Mr. Revburn argued that one of the causes of high prices at present is the high cost of labor. This, he said, should gradually be readjusted as prices of other commodities readjust themselves.

Among the guests were the presidents of the various local associations in the different branches of the industry and prominent men in the local shoe and leather trade.
